Order thereon:— No. 1890-8 / Cir 52.

Dated Bangalore, 4th July 1887.

The alienation of a religious inam by Court or Revenue sale does not differ from that by private contract, and the Deputy Commissioner must accordingly proceed under Clause B, para II of Notification No. 266, dated 17th November 1877, to resume and restore the inam land to the religious institution to which it belongs.

I have the honor to state that lands (particulars of which are noted in the margin) were granted, as Inam, to the Sri Anjaneyaswami temple, Palahalli village, Magadi Taluk. The archik, who enjoyed the lands in return for his service to the temple, failed to pay the Jodi due on the lands during the famine of 1877-78. So these lands were sold by auction in the year, Vishu, i-e 1881-82, for the arrears of Quit rent and as there were no bids, they were resumed to Government, and the amount due thereon, was written off the accounts. In Chitrabhanu, i-e 1882-83, one Venka=teshbhatta applied for wet land, Survey No. 61, and the same was granted to him on Kandayem. On the death of this man, his widow, Gowramma, bequeathed this land to the temple in 1891-92. Since then, the Archik has been enjoying the land on payment of the usual Kandayem and doing service to the temple. The other dry land, Survey No. 36, has been lying waste. Since the resump=tion of these lands, the temple service has reduced itself to a weekly one from the daily one as formerly, and even this is due to the encouragement given to the archik by the villagers in the shape of ragi, &c. The people of the village now pray for the restoration of these lands, as Inam, to the temple which is kept up in good condition. The archik of the temple promises to pay the usual Jodi amount regularly, and to perform daily puja in the temple. The leading villagers also promise to pay up the Jodi amount in case the archik fails to do so. Under the circumstances, I beg to re = = commend the restoration of the Inam.

From the Vernacular papers submitted with the above, it is observed that owing to the failure of the Archak to pay the Jodi due to Government on the marginally noted Inam lands belonging to the temple, the lands were put up for sale by public auction in 1881-82. No one having then come forward to bid for them they were resumed to Govt in 1882-83.

Subsequently one Venkatasesha Bhatta having applied for the wet land, Survey no 61, the same was granted to him on Kandayem tenure; and after the death of this person, his widow gave the land back to the temple in question in 1891-92. Since then, the land has been registered in the name of the temple and is in the enjoyment of the Archak who has been paying the Kandayem thereon to Govt. The other land, viz, Survey no. 36 is still lying waste - The Archak of the temple as also the other devotees state that the present income to the temple from the land now in the possession of the Archak is insufficient for purposes of daily Puja &c and they therefore pray that this land together with the other Dry land mentioned above may now be restored to the temple as Inams as before The Archak further promises to regularly pay the Jodi to Govt on these lands, and the villagers ~~G.~~ have agreed that in case the Archak makes any default in paying the Jodi, they would pay the same to Govt The Deputy
